LXVII. Stat. 17 & 18 G. 3. cap. 45. ſect. 9. Whereas the property, which a bankrupt ſhall acquire or become entitled to, after having become a bankrupt, and obtained certificate, is not ſubject to debts contracted prior to having become a bankrupt: whenſoever any perſon, who had at any time before been a bankrupt, and obtained certificate, ſhall again become a bankrupt, and not have effects ſufficient to ſatisfy demands of his creditors, in every ſuch caſe the property which ſhall come to or be acquired by ſuch bankrupt, after having become a ſecond time a bankrupt, ſhall be ſubject to all ſuch debts as contracted by him after the time of having firſt become a bankrupt.

LXVIII. Stat. 17 & 18 Geo. 3. cap. 48. ſect. 1. Whereas great frauds have been committed by traders not keeping regular books of account, and the effect of an act, to prevent frauds by bankrupts, hath been thereby defeated: After the firſt January, one thouſand ſeven hundred and ſeventy-nine, no perſon againſt whom a commiſſion of bankrupt awarded, intitled to any benefit of ſaid act, unleſs it appear to major part of the commiſſioners that ſuch perſon hath from the time aforeſaid kept honeſtly and fairly a book or books, in which hath been entered an account of all his dealings, bills of exchange drawn, endorſed, or accepted by him, of his debts and credits, and expences in houſe-keeping.

LXX. ſect. 3. Whereas by an act eleventh and twelfth of his preſent majeſty, to prevent frauds by bankrupts, any trader having privilege of parliament, who ſhall neglect to make ſatisfaction for any juſt debt to the amount of one hundred pounds ſterling, or more, within two months after ſervice of legal proceſs for ſuch debt, adjudged a bankrupt: before any ſuch proceſs ſhall be ſerved on any trader, having privilege for any ſuch debt, an affidavit ſhall be made by the creditor, or in caſe the debt or debts be owing to partners then by one partner, and filed on record in ſome one of courts of record in Dublin, that ſuch debt is juſtly due and owing to him alone, or to him and partner or partners, by ſuch perſon intended to be ſerved, and that ſuch debtor as he or ſhe verily believes, is a trader within the true intent and meaning of ſaid ſtatute.

time appointed after ſuch affidavit made, and after ſervice of ſuch proceſs, then any creditor may ſue out a commiſſion againſt any ſuch perſon, and proceed thereon in like manner as againſt other bankrupts.

If any merchant, &c. after laſt day of this ſeſſion commit act of bankruptcy, any creditor may ſue out commiſſion, and proceed as againſt others, privilege notwithſtanding.

LXXII. ſect. 5. If any merchant, banker, broker, factor, ſcrivener, or trader, ſhall, after the laſt day of this ſeſſion, commit any act of bankruptcy, any creditor or creditors of ſuch perſon may ſue out a commiſſion againſt ſuch merchant, banker, broker, ſcrivener, or trader; and the commiſſioners in ſuch commiſſion, and other perſons, may proceed thereon in like manner as againſt other bankrupts, any privilege of parliament to contrary notwithſtanding.

Entry to ſurvey.

VI. ſect. 6. Original leſſors.

IX. ſect. 3. In all caſes, whether the ſoil or ſurface ſhall be burned or permitted to be burned by the original leſſees, or by the occupiers of land, and where the original leſſor is not conſenting to ſuch burning, the original leſſor ſhall be intitled to recover the penalty given by the ſaid act from his immediate leſſees, who ſhall be anſwerable for the acts of their under tenants, and of the occupiers of ſuch land.

Next aſſizes or ſeſſions.

X. ſect. 4. Provided ſuch original leſſors ſhall commence their ſuit for the recovery of the penalty, at ſuch next aſſizes or quarter ſeſſions, as in the ſaid act is expreſſed, and ſuch immediate leſſee ſhall have the like remedy over againſt his under tenants, or the occupiers of ſuch land ſo offending, and may recover againſt them, or any of them ſo offending.

Immediate leſſors.

XI. ſect. 5. Provided that ſuch ſuit be commenced at the next aſſizes or quarter ſeſſions after ſuch original leſſor ſhall have ſo obtained a decree againſt ſuch his immediate leſſees: and in caſe the original leſſor ſhall not ſue for the ſaid penalty at the next aſſizes or quarter ſeſſions, as mentioned in the ſaid act, then it ſhall be lawful for the immediate leſſors of the occupiers of the land, who ſhall burn, or permit to be burned, the ſoil or ſurface of any land, to ſue for, and recover from ſuch occupiers the ſaid penalty.

Suit at the ſecond aſſizes.

XII. ſect. 6. Provided ſuch ſuit be commenced at the ſecond aſſizes or quarter ſeſſions, after the ſaid land ſhall be ſo burned, and that the ſaid aſſizes or quarter ſeſſions ſhall not be ſo near, that a proceſs cannot be ſerved time enough for that purpoſe; and in ſuch caſes the ſuit ſhall be commenced at the next immediate aſſizes or ſeſſions following.

Ridges or paths.

XIII. ſect. 7. All ridges or paths left unburned or intermixed with the parts burned, ſhall be ſurveyed in one common ſurvey with the other parts that ſhall be burned, and they ſhall be deemed as part of the land burned, ſo far as to ſubject the perſons offending, to the penalty in the ſaid act mentioned, equally as if no ſuch ridges or paths had been left unburned.

Land under an acre.

XIV. ſect. 8. Whereas a doubt hath ariſen, whether the penalty for burning the ſoil or ſurface as aforeſaid, was recoverable under the ſaid act, where the quantity of the ſoil or ſurface burned was not a full Engliſh ſtatute acre: the penalty on the perſons ſo offending, ſhall be proportioned to the quantity burnt, though it be under one Engliſh ſtatute acre.

Recital of the act 17 Geo. 2. cap. 10.

recital of the act 1 G. 3. c. 17.

XV. Stat 3 Geo. 3. cap. 29. ſect. 1. Whereas by an act paſſed in the ſeventeenth year of the reign of his late Majeſty King George the ſecond, to prevent the pernicious practice of burning land, as to ſuch part thereof as relates to the burning of land, land, was, by an act paſſed the laſt ſeſſion of parliament, with ſeveral amendments, made perpetual; and whereas by the ſaid laſt recited act, the original leſſors, where the ſoil or ſurface has been burned or permitted to be burned by the occupiers of the land, and not by the original leſſees, have found great difficulties in ſuing for and recovering the penalty given by the ſaid act: and whereas the remedy provided by the ſaid act has been found not only difficult to the leſſors, but alſo diſadvantageous and very expenſive to the leſſees, or occupiers ſo burning; for remedy whereof, in all caſes whether the ſoil or ſurface of any land ſhall be burned or permitted to be burned by the original leſſees, or by the occupiers of ſuch land, and where the original leſſor of ſuch land ſhall not have conſented to ſuch burning, in manner as in the ſaid act is mentioned, in ſuch caſe it ſhall be lawful for two or more of his Majeſty's juſtices of the peace, within their reſpective juriſdictions, to hear and determine in a ſummary way, all offences committed againſt the true intent of the ſaid acts, and for that purpoſe, upon information upon oath given before them by the original leſſor, his or her heirs or aſſigns, or one or more credible witneſſes, on their behalf, of the offence of ſuch pernicious burning of land, to ſummon before any two of them, within their juriſdictions, any parties ſo accuſed of being offenders againſt the ſaid acts.

Land burned, or permitted to be burned.

Two juſtices may determine offences.

Information by one witneſs.

Summons to the party accuſed.

XVI. ſect. 2. In caſe the parties accuſed ſhall not appear on ſuch ſummons, or offer ſome reaſonable excuſe for their default, then upon the information upon oath as aforeſaid, it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid two juſtices to iſſue their warrants under their hands and ſeals for the apprehending the parties ſo accuſed, within their reſpective juriſdictions, and upon their appearing, or in caſe they ſhall not appear, and cannot be apprehended on a warrant granted againſt them as before is directed, then, upon notice in writing being given to or left for them at their uſual place of abode, and ſuch notice being proved upon oath, in any ſuch caſe, any two ſuch juſtices of the peace, within their reſpective juriſdictions, ſhall proceed to make enquiry touching the matters complained of, and to examine any witneſſes who ſhall be offered on either ſide, on oath, and after hearing of the parties who ſhall appear, and the witneſſes who ſhall be offered on either ſide, ſuch juſtices ſhall convict or acquit the parties accuſed of the penalties in the ſaid recited acts, together with the coſt of ſurveying the land ſo burned.

Upon non-appearance,

warrants to apprehend the parties.

Notice in writing proved on oath,

coſts of ſurvey.

XVII. ſect. 3. If the penalties inflicted by the aforeſaid acts, and to be recovered in the ſummary way herein directed, ſhall not be paid within twenty four hours after any ſuch conviction, the ſaid juſtices ſo convicting the ſaid parties, ſhall thereupon iſſue warrants under their hands and ſeals, directed to any peace officer within their reſpective juriſdictions, impowering them to make diſtreſs of the goods or chattles of the offenders.

Non-payment of the penalties, warrants of diſtreſs.

XVIII. ſect. 4. If any offender ſhall convey away his goods out of the juriſdictions of ſuch juſtices, before whom he was convicted, or ſo much thereof, that the penalty cannot be levied, then any chief magiſtrate or juſtice of the peace, within whoſe juriſdiction the offender ſhall have removed his goods, ſhall back the warrant granted by the ſaid juſtices before whom the conviction was ſo had, and thereupon the penalties forfeited, together with the coſt of ſurveying as aforeſaid, ſhall be levied on the ſaid offenders goods by diſtreſs and ſale thereof: and if within five days from the diſtreſs being taken under the ſaid warrant, the money forfeited ſhall not be paid, the goods ſeized ſhall be appraiſed and ſold, rendering the overplus, if any, deducting the penalty, and the charges of the diſtreſs, and ſale, to the owner, which charges ſhall be aſcertained by the ſaid juſtices before whom any ſuch offender ſhall have been ſo convicted, Explanation.

IN the firſt column is the price of the quarter of wheat, which is two barrels, the allowance of the magiſtrate to the baker, which is ſix ſhillings the quarter for baking, being included, and in the other columns is the weight of the ſeveral loaves, ſo that for example, if the Price of wheat is two pounds the quarter, and the magiſtrate's allowance ſix ſhillings to the baker for baking, then even with two pounds ſix ſhillings in the firſt column will be found the weight of the ſeveral loaves.

Note, The white loaves are one half, and the wheaten three quarters of the houſhold loaves.

It

It is thought ſufficient to give the table of the aſſize of bread, for every variation of a ſhilling in the price of wheat; as the aſſize upon a variation of ſix pence is eaſily found by taking half the difference between any two adjoining numbers in the table, and either adding to the latter or ſubtracting it from the firſt of ſuch numbers. And as the price of wheat is generally between forty ſhillings and four pounds a quarter, it is thought ſufficient to give ſo much of the table as correſponds to thoſe prices; but if the value of wheat ſhould exceed thoſe limits, it is eaſy to extend the table.

As the bakers are by the act, 3 Geo. 3. cap. 17. to have an allowance of nine ſhillings on each quarter of corn for houſhold bread, and an allowance of eight ſhillings only on the quarter for white and wheaten bread, by adding the ſame to the middle price of wheat, and to be ſet according to the above table, by which regulation the weights of the white, wheaten and houſhold breads do not correſpond to the table, at any given middle price of wheat; but if the middle price of wheat, with the baker's allowance on houſhold bread be taken, to find the weight of that bread, the weight of the white or wheaten bread is to be found one line higher in the table.

Buying corn, &c.

V. Stat. 5 Geo. 3. cap. 24. ſect. 52. And whereas ſeveral frauds are committed by the bakers and meal makers of the ſaid city of Cork; for remedy whereof, it is enacted, that no baker, or ſeller of bread, or meal maker, reſiding in the ſaid city of Cork, or ſuburbs thereof, ſhall by himſelf, or herſelf, or others for his or her uſe, buy any corn from any perſon, or at any place, but in the publick market where corn is uſually ſold or expoſed to ſale within the ſaid city of Cork, except where the ſame hath been imported, and then only from the merchant, factor or owner importing the ſame.

Penalty five pounds.

VI. ſect. 53. And if any bakers, ſeller of bread, or meal maker, ſhall be convicted of buying corn in any other place or manner than as aforeſaid, by the confeſſion of the party, or by the oath of one credible witneſs, before the mayor of the ſaid city, ſuch perſon, for every ſuch offence ſhall forfeit five pounds, to be recovered in a ſummary manner before the mayor of the ſaid city, and to be levied by diſtreſs and ſale of the offender's goods, by warrant under the hand and ſeal of the mayor of the ſaid city, one half of the ſaid ſum of five pounds to go to the informer, and the other half thereof to the governors of the work-houſe of the ſaid city of Cork for the uſe of the ſaid work-houſe.

Houſhold and wheaten bread,

VII. ſect. 54. Every baker, or perſon making or expoſing bread to ſale within the ſaid city of Cork and ſuburbs thereof, ſhall at all times make the ſame quantity of houſhold as of wheaten bread, unleſs the mayor of the ſaid city ſhall think it neceſſary that greater quantities of houſhold or other ſort of bread ſhould be made; and the mayor of the ſaid city ſhall publiſh the proportions to be ſo baked in the weekly aſſize of bread, or otherwiſe, under his hand, which orders ſo publiſhed, the ſaid bakers or ſellers of bread are required to perform.

proportions to be publiſhed.
